Knowing that he would not be available to see [redacted] during his recent visit to Washington, Mr. Helms asked us to review the personal history on [redacted] which you so kindly forwarded to him. Coincident with your referral, the office of Senator Keating asked that we talk to [redacted]. We have done so and have reviewed the many fine qualifications he has to offer. Unhappily, we cannot develop a suitable use for him at this time but will hold the file against any possible future interest.

Honorable Byron G. Rogers
House of Representatives
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rogers:

Thank you for your letter of 6 February regarding [redacted].
You were correct in assuming there had been a confusion of identities; the [redacted] referred to in our letter of 17 January lived in Florida prior to his recent move to Washington, D. C. We regret this error.

We have no record of any prior correspondence with [redacted] of Denver and have written to him to obtain additional information which will assist us in exploring the possibilities of an opening for him. A copy of our letter to him is enclosed for your information.

We appreciate your thoughtfulness in bringing [redacted] to our attention and shall advise you of the outcome of our further correspondence with him.

Sincerely,

John S. Warner

Congressman Byron G. Rogers has written to us of your interest in Government service and suggested that your knowledge of Spain and your proficiency in Spanish might be useful to us.

Most of our recruitment is conducted at the junior officer level among young men and women who enter our service on a career basis. As a rule, more responsible positions are filled through the competitive advancement of these careerists. However, there are occasions when we require a man of substantial and mature experience to meet a specialized need which cannot be filled from within our career group. We shall be glad to explore the possibilities of such an opportunity for you. The enclosed Personnel Resume will provide us the essential information needed for this purpose.

We appreciate your desire to serve this country and look forward to hearing further from you.

Sincerely,

E. D. Bohls
Director of Personnel
